

English

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

#acampadabcn

We have come here voluntarily and on our own free will. After the May 15 demonstrations we have decided to remain united and grow in numbers in our fight for dignity. We do not represent any political party, and none of them represent us. We are united in our rage, our discomfort, and our precarious life, which is derived from inequality, but what above all keeps us together is our will to change. We are here because we want a new society that puts our lives above any political or economic interest.

We feel crushed by the capitalist economy, and we feel excluded from the present political system, which does not represent us. We are demonstrating in favour of a radical change in society. Above all, we aim to ensure that society itself be the sole driver of this transformation.

They thought we were asleep. They thought they could carry on cutting back our rights without coming into any resistance. But they were wrong: we are fighting – peacefully, but with determination – for the life we deserve.

We have learned from Cairo, Iceland and Madrid. Now it's time to extend the fight and spread the word.
Information

#acampadabcn

acampadabcn.wordpress.com

English

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

#acampadabcn

We have come here voluntarily and on our own free will. After the May 15 demonstrations we have decided to remain united and grow in numbers in our fight for dignity. We do not represent any political party, and none of them represent us. We are united in our rage, our discomfort, and our precarious life, which is derived from inequality, but what above all keeps us together is our will to change. We are here because we want a new society that puts our lives above any political or economic interest.

We feel crushed by the capitalist economy, and we feel excluded from the present political system, which does not represent us. We are demonstrating in favour of a radical change in society. Above all, we aim to ensure that society itself be the sole driver of this transformation.

They thought we were asleep. They thought they could carry on cutting back our rights without coming into any resistance. But they were wrong: we are fighting – peacefully, but with determination – for the life we deserve.

We have learned from Cairo, Iceland and Madrid. Now it's time to extend the fight and spread the word.
Information

#acampadabcn

acampadabcn.wordpress.com